GILL NETTERS IN HARD LUCK

Some May Shift Berths and Try Down Around the Isles of Shoals.

Not an off shore arrival was reported at this port up to noon today.

The gill netters landed less than 50,000 pounds yesterday. Poor fishing was the rule, the pollock which have been in abundance up to the storm of two weeks ago, seeming to have left the grounds.

Fishermen claim that the dumping of old fish on the grounds, which were taken out of the nets after the big storm is the cause of the scarcity and unless conditions improve, many of the smaller boats will pull out, until after the haddock run.

Steamer Mary F. Ruth has taken up her gear, and will try her luck off the Isle of Shoals.
